

PRIVACY POLICY FOR DIGITAL FORENSICS SOUTH AFRICA NPC 2024/531682/08

Last Updated: April 22, 2025

1. Introduction

This Privacy Policy explains how Digital Forensics South Africa (DFSA) (hereinafter "we," "us," or "our") collects, uses, and protects information when you visit our website <https://dfsa.org.za>. We are committed to protecting the privacy of our visitors and users.

At present, our website is a static website for information purposes only and we will only collect strictly necessary cookies

1.1. What is a cookie

A cookie is a small file of text that a website sends to your web browser to store information, which can then be retrieved later

1.2. Strictly necessary cookies

For a static website, strictly necessary cookies are cookies that are essential for the website to function properly and provide a seamless user experience. These cookies are needed for basic features like navigating between pages and displaying the correct content

2. Information We Collect

- Cookies and Analytics:

We may use cookies and website analytics tools (e.g., Google Analytics) to collect information about how visitors interact with our website. This information helps us improve our website's functionality and user experience. This information may include your IP address, browser type, and pages visited. Our website will not store or collect sensitive or personally identifiable information such as your name and address. The information these cookies collect may be anonymised and they cannot track your browsing activity on other websites

- Contact Forms (not currently in use):

If our website includes a contact form, we may collect information submitted through that form, such as your name, email address, and message content.

3. How We Use Your Information

- Website Analytics:

We use website analytics data to understand user behaviour and make improvements to our website. This data is not used to personally identify individual users.

- Improving User Experience:

We may use aggregated and anonymized data to improve the overall user experience on our website.

3. Data Security

We take appropriate security measures to protect the information we collect from unauthorized access, disclosure, or misuse. This includes using secure servers, encryption, and other industry-standard security practices.

4. Your Rights

- Access and Correction:

You have the right to access and correct any personal information we hold about you. Please contact us at info@dfsa.org.za to make a request.

- Opt-Out:

You may be able to opt-out of certain data collection activities, such as cookies, through your browser settings or by using other privacy tools.

5. Third-Party Links

Our website may contain links to other websites. We are not responsible for the privacy practices or content of those websites. We encourage you to review the privacy policies of any third-party website you visit.

6. Contact Information

If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy, please contact us at info@dfsa.org.za

7. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time.
